CONVENTION COVERAGE

Every four years the Democratic and Republican Parties tell us that by electing one of their Presidential candidates we will be making a real choice. And every four years we hear the same promises evaporate right after election day.

It is now becoming more and more clear that the Democratic and Republican Party candidates for President do not offer us even a choice between "the lesser of two evils." They offer no choice at all. No matter which party wins, the quality of our lifes continues to get worse.

WBAI's coverage of both the Democratic and Republican Conventions will look beyond the promises and platitutes we have heard during the primarys and will continue to hear during the Conventions. We'll examine the agenda of Big business, the new Cold war and Military actions abroad. We'll look at the domestic issues of inflation, unemployment and repression at home.

From July 14th through the 18th we'll bring special coverage of the Republican Convention taking place in Detroit from 7:30-8:30.

From August 11th through the 15th we'll bring you coverage of the Democratic Convention taking place in Madison Square Garden, right around the corner from our studios. Our coverage will take place each afternoon from 5pm to 6:30, and each evening a wrap up of the Convention from 10pm-11:30.

And as you might expect, much of our regular programming will be geared to raising the issues that should be addressed in the 1980's. If not by the Political parties by the people who's lifes will be most affected by the agendas and platforms of the Democrats and Republicans.

So join us this summer at WBAI for our unique coverage and analysis of the Democrats and Republicans.

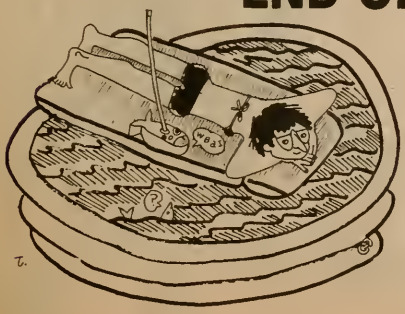
BAI makes more changes

Bob Schwartz, Celeste Wesson, Patty Neighmond and Michael Neal go on to other things.

Welcome Rosemarie Reed as interim station manager, Robert Knight as interim news director, and James Browne as interim music director.

END OF ANOTHER MARATHON



WBAI has completed its best Spring Marathon in over five years. The final tally for the Marathon was $121,300.

There are many people to thank. I thank Rick Harris for his good advice, Rosemarie Reed for her good sense, Bill O'Neill for doing an impossible job, Linda Tally-Macher Perry, Fred Premiums Herschkowitz, and Lynn Supscriptions Sammuels —as well as everyone who was on the air, pitching, programming, announcing, and everyone behind the air, the tally people, the phone answerers, the bill sender outers. . . . And thanks to you, the listener, who lived with this mad, beautiful process and kept it alive.

Take care,
JOE CUOMO
Coordinator

July 30 CHRIS FOSTER AND GILL BURNS IN CONCERT.
Chris Foster and Gill Burns are two of the finest singers and guitarists in the English folk music revival. This past April, each gave rare U.S. tours, displaying their consummate abilities to reach an audience while maintaining the highest standards of performance. This concert, recorded at the Eagle Tavern in New York City on April 23, 1980, features a pair of sets apiece by Chris Foster and Gill Burns (and catches Chris in excellent performances of some of the more political songs in his repertoire). This program was recorded and produced for broadcast by Edward Haber.

John Wheelwright had published only three collections of poetry—Rock and Shell (1933), Mirrors of Venus (1938) and Political Self-Portrait (1940)—when he was struck and killed by a drunken driver in his native city, Boston. Although little known as a poet during his lifetime, (all his books were published privately) he was well known as an eccentric, a political radical, and a wit. Since his death his reputation as an original and haunting poet who wrote some of the most perfect poems of this century has grown, particularly among other poets. Participating in the program were Quincy Howe, Polly Thayer, Ray DiPalma, Sharon Mattli, Dorothy Di Santayana, Robert Fitzgerald, and others. Produced by Susan Howe and is funded in part by the National Endowment of the Arts.
